

My hobby is playing games. My favorite games are the ones with stories, and I play "Dragon Quest" and "Final Fantasy". I alone play the games, but all my family is fond of the games, so I play the games together with my wife and daughter. I am familiar with games such as game watch since my younger days, therefore, I have played much the games such as PC, PSP as well as game machines of Nintendo. In the past there was a time when I enjoyed PC games side by side with my wife. Some persons, not familiar with games, ask me what is the interest of the games. I reply to the question that I feel emotion through the stories of the games. It gives me courage and vigor, and this is the charm and value of the games. The games give me the chance of home circle. We all like this hobby and regard this very important.
